CHASKA, THURSDAY, FEB. 1 1872.

Fish's Christmas Presents.

Colonel James Fish, Jr., was the recipient of two elegant presents on Christmas. The first was a very large painting, representing the battle of Gettysburg, presented by the ladies of the city. The second was a carriage, behind his six horses. The horses are represented as having just been touched up by the long whip of the driver, which has made them rear and curve their necks as the reins are drawn up to hold them in. Beneath the horses and carriage is a cloud of dust, which is blown aside by the wind, and partially obscures the landscape beyond. (The painting cost $2,000, and was presented to the colonel by his friend, Mr. Henry Harter. The other present was an open-class studded with over four hundred small diamonds. It cost $3,000. It was the gift of thirty of Col. Fish's friends, who subscribed $100 each.)

What a Miserable Reprobate Fish Was.

From the Commercial Advertiser.

What a miserable reprobate the proprietors all make Fish out to be! And they are right. Why, the scoundrel actually stopped his carriage on a dreary night on Seventh avenue, and got out, inquired where the hotel was, and gave the poor old beggar woman a dollar. He seemed to have no shame about him, for the next day he debauched the wretched woman, and gave her a barrel of flour and a loaf of coal.

One day the black-hearted scoundrel sent $10 and a bag of flour around to a widow woman with three starving children, and not content with this, the remorseless wretch told the Police Captain to look after all the poor wretches and see that they were taken care of. What a shameless performance it was to give that poor negro preacher $20 to send him on to Howard University! And how the black-hearted villain professed his meanness on the morning of the old woman who wanted to go to Boston, by paying her, as we saw, a very scanty escort, and a true state room while the old woman's tears of gratitude streamed down her cheeks! Oh, insatiable monster! thus to give money to penniless negro preachers and starving women and children.

An amusing occurrence took place not far from the town of Henshaw a few days ago. A well-to-do Welsh farmer residing not far from Union, started for a ride on business, driving a pair of high spirited horses. By some accident the sleigh was overturned and broken, and the farmer was dragged along at a fearful rate of speed for some distance by becoming entangled in the lines and the wreck of the sleigh. A friend who witnessed the accident endeavored to check the speed of the horses and to release the farmer from his dangerous position. He ran behind as fast as possible, but did not succeed in doing much. As soon as the farmer noticed his friend, he whistled out: "Please take notice, friend! I leave my wife $10,000! No time to make will!" Such a touching evidence of affection for a wife, under peculiar circumstances, is extremely rare and noteworthy. Fortunately, the horses were stopped, and the dutiful husband was still alive, but badly bruised. We hope he will live long enough to increase and multiply the amount which he was so anxious to secure to his wife.—Union (N. Y.) Observer.

The Gift of Tact.

What a wonderful oil upon the machinery of human affairs tact is. To know just what to say, and when to say it, and to whom to say it; to know when to be silent, and when deferentially to listen, is a great gift. No one can fully appreciate this quality who has not had the misfortune of living with a blundering person, who never moves nor speaks without unintentionally wounding or offending somebody. Contingency with such a one is to increase the nerves and temper too. We doubt whether tact, in any considerable degree, can be acquired. It is born with some, and is as natural to them as the color of their eyes or hair. We have seen little children who were perfect in it, without the slightest idea, of course, of the diplomacy they were enacting.

—All places of business in Paris will be closed on the 28 inst., the anniversary of the capitulation to the Prussians.

—The Prince of Wales walked out on Thursday.

"Is no Place for a Woman."

So said a young husband in Lawrence to his wife a few months ago, when she, tired of staying alone, took her three little children to the billiard room and took a seat by his side. "It's disgraceful," said he, looking daggers at her—"I know it," continued the injured wife, "and you have borne the disgrace so long, my dear, that I am determined henceforth to share it with you," and she took out her knitting work and sat down for the evening. Her husband persisted in urging her to go home—"I will go," said she, "when you go and not before." He was evidently a little disconcerted in his playing and went home a little earlier than usual. The next evening the programme was all altered again. This time the young husband went home a little earlier than before, and carried the baby himself. That was the last time he was ever seen in the billiard room. A similar occurrence was acted a few months since, not a hundred miles from the county seat, and this time it only lasted one evening. Ladies, try it; it works like a charm.—Dexter Republican.

A New Territory.

The new territory of Ojibway, which is proposed to set off in the northern part of Dakota, will contain about 74,000 square miles, being nearly one-half the present area of Dakota. The new territory contains a large area of fertile and well watered lands, but its inhabitants consist as yet almost entirely of Indians. It will be crossed midway, however, by the Northern Pacific Railroad, which will build up settlements and towns rapidly along its route, and from the line of the railroad population and agricultural development will be diffused in all directions. The existing white population in Dakota, numbering about 15,000, is concentrated chiefly in the southern part of the territory, its capital, Yankton, being at the mouth of the James River, and a vast wilderness intervenes between these settlements and the country which will attract the attention of emigrants who will follow the line of the new railroad.

Two Men Frozen to Death in Montana.

From Winnipeg Manitoba, Jan. 21.

The American stage which arrived here on Wednesday night picked up a man, frozen to death, on the road. Deceased wore the cloak of a U. S. soldier, and appeared to be a deserter. He was found stretched on the high road near Riviere aux Meules. Very recently we have heard of another case of freezing to death, the victim being a Mr. Sheppard, in the employ of McArthur & Co. He was frozen to death while en route Broken Head River.

The Milwaukee News says the passengers on the "swearing train" which left Madison on the completion of the organization of the Legislature, were mostly crippled soldiers. The radical law of that class of people is wonderful. In Minnesota, the "swearing train" also contained a good sprinkling of soldiers, intermixed with simple Scandinavians, who had hoped for legislative recognition and reward for faithful services to the party.

REV. MR. TOND, of Fillmore county, in attempting to save himself from falling from the platform of a car, while the train was in motion, caught one of his fingers in the jam of the door, cutting it completely off. He saved himself from a fall, however, and perhaps, a more serious accident.

Over Wm. B. Vipard, of Le Roy, charged with stealing wheat from J. M. Vandervort, has been committed to the jail in Preston, in default of $500 bail.

Railroad Accident in 1871.

The New York Times has compiled an interesting statement of the number of railroad accidents in the United States last year, and the result of the same. It is proper to state that it is made from newspaper reports, and is, therefore, not as full as if made from official documents. From it we learn that there occurred in 1871 one hundred and seven "accidents," in which 191 persons were killed and 254 wounded. Of accidents, 40 were collisions, in which 108 persons were killed and 211 wounded. The foremost places in the record of slaughter is occupied by the Reverse disaster, on August 26; the New Aamberg tragedy on February 6, follows in the magnitude of its result; while the train thrown from the bridge at Harpeth River, Tenn., and the collision at Edwardsville, Ill., take the third and fourth places. These four events alone account for 79 deaths and 89 wounded, while if the accident at Hauger Me., on August 9, be added to the list, five disasters will be found to account for 82 killed and 148 wounded.

—An economical Iowa, who had a toothache, determined to remove his tooth in the Indian fashion. Accordingly he bent down a sapling. Then he touched the spring. The Coroner is awaiting the result with a powerful telescope.

DIED.—At his residence in Saint Paul on Saturday the 27th inst., of consumption, Mr. W. B. Newcomb of the firm of Hill, Griggs & Co. Mr. Newcomb was formerly a resident of this place, where he had a large number of warm friends and acquaintances who will mourn his death.

He was a man of many virtues, honorable, enterprising and successful in business, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and one child. He was buried on the 30th inst., with Masonic Honors, under the direction of Ancient Land Mark Lodge of St. Paul.

A CHEAP RIDE.—All persons who wish to visit Europe during the coming spring and summer should apply to Fred Hennings of Chaska and purchase tickets at greatly reduced rates. He is agent for the U. S. Mail Line, and will sell you a ticket for almost any port you desire. Any one wishing to send to Europe for their friends or relatives should call upon him before going elsewhere to purchase tickets.

IN JAIL.—Samuel Chase and Rich and Fadden were confined in jail here last Saturday night, from McLeod Co. upon charge of grand larceny. They were committed in default of bail; $500 being required, by the justice, of each of them for their appearance. They expect to get the required security.

Senator Baxter and Rep. Du Toit were at home over the Sabbath.

—Two of the jurors who sat upon the trial of Peter Wozitz last spring having since died—Peter still lives.

PERSONAL.—We are informed that Capt. James Houghton of Carver has for some days been confined to his bed with a fever. Drs. Lewis of Carver and Wakefield of Shakopee are the physicians in attendance. We hope to see him around soon.

FARMERS.—If you want one of the celebrated Van Brunt Seeders, call upon Fritz Womer, he is sole agent for this place.

There seems to be a "screw loose" in the U. S. Mail service between Chaska and Shakopee. It has been the subject of complaint among the citizens of both towns for a long time; that it takes the same length of time to get a letter from one town to the other as it does to get a letter to or from Chicago. We can only attribute it to the carelessness of the agent upon the trains.

THE MESSRS. HOWES have just purchased a twenty five horse power engine, which they are putting up at their brick yard, in connection with their new patent moulder. They intend to have it ready for operation upon the opening of the season for brick making, and expect to turn out from 25,000 to 30,000 brick per day.

THE SHAKOPEE MIRROR announces that hereafter it will publish all the decisions filed by Judge Chaffield in his District. It will be a matter of interest, not only to the Bar, but to all persons who have matters in court.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—On Friday night of last week a man living in Hancock Town in this Co. was stopped upon the road about nine o'clock in the evening by two men and searched, but not finding anything of value upon his person he was allowed to pass on. We understand it was near the place where Burgener was found murdered. Other attempts at robbery have been made in that vicinity recently. We forbear the names of any parties upon whom suspicion rests until further developments.

LEGISLATIVE ITEMS.—The contested election case Hall vs. Gillick cost the State $508.65.

The new Liquor Law of Senator Childs is making slow progress, and at the present time appearances are that it will be killed with amendments.

There are two bills before the Senate and House providing for the disposition of the 500,000 acres of Internal Improvement Lands.

Mr. Lucan introduced a bill making school officers elective for three years, instead of one; it was killed in the House.

CORRECTION.—In speaking of the death of Mr. Aspend of Chanhassen, in our last, we erroneously gave the name Henry, it should have been John, the fault was not ours, but our informant's.

Carver Items.

Correspondence.

DIED.—A man by the name of Gilman, who was moving his family to Carver, died very suddenly on Saturday evening from internal hemorrhage. He had been quite well for a week previous, but was not considered to be in any immediate danger. His wife and daughter were with him, and took his remains to Saint Paul where he has friends and relatives. He had been living at Glenwood for 2 years past.

RETURNED.—Frank Lewis, brother of Dr. E. H. Lewis, who has been attending the Rush Medical College, Chicago for the last three or four months, returned home on Saturday evening. Frank looks natural, that is after such a hard season of study. He will remain in Carver for some time.

ELECTED.—The following officers were elected to serve one month on Friday evening at the meeting of the Literary Association. Hon. J. S. Letford, President, Wm. Gibson, Vice President, Frank Warner, Secretary, H. B. Willis, Editor, Mr. Guy Houghton, Treasurer. The committee on programme are F. W. Kimball, Mr. Burk and Geo. B. Holmes.

MARKET DAY.—Saturday last was the regular monthly market day, but owing to the cold, disagreeable weather, it was not as well attended as usual, although considerable stock changed hands and at fair prices. Wheat and pork were brought in freely and brought $1.03, and pork $4.00 per hundred.

NEW MAN.—Wm. Gillick is in the field as a wheat buyer. He pays the highest market price. Give him a call.

IN TROUBLE.—We clip the following from the "Shakopee Argus" of last week. Thos. B. Hunt, Asst. Q. M. United States Army, is now undergoing a Court Martial at Covington Ky. upon the charge of fraudulent vouchers. Mr. Hunt is well known in this State and was formerly a resident of Chaska, where he practiced law.

THANKS.—We are under obligations to Rep. Johnson for a copy of the report of the Rail Road Commissioner.—It is an interesting document.

SMALL POX.—We are happy to say that there is but one family in or near Carver that are now afflicted with small pox.

RETURNED.—Co. Treasurer Hassenstab has returned from his yearly tour through the County collecting, and can now be found at his office. He is ready to receive all the "loose change" you may have.

WHEAT SHIPMENT.—We will endeavor to give the amount of wheat shipped from this place during the year 1871 in the next issue of the "Herald."

PERSONAL.—H. B. Willis of Minneapolis spent a day or two with his friends in Carver last week. Capt. Johnson spent the Sabbath at home.

NEW MAIL ROUTE.—We noticed there is a new mail route established from Carver to Henderson, and the Post Master General is ready to receive bids for carrying the mail. Service is ordered twice a week. Any information wanting in regard to it will be cheerfully given by H. R. Dunny this postmaster at this place.

SICK.—Henry Zanger Esqr. one of our most prominent and respected citizens is confined to his bed. Dr. Lewis reports him quite sick, and says it will be some time before he can get out of doors.

COUNTY SEAT.—Henton is in the field for the County Seat, numerous petitions are being circulated by them, asking the Legislature to allow the people to vote upon it. We notice our Scott County friends are at the same work. Jordan wanting the Court House, Go to it and get it.

COMMENCED.—The district school under charge of Victor Mills and Holmes, commenced on Monday. The small pox having died out.

HALL.—We understand that steps are being taken for the erection of a large hall at this place the coming summer, a committee have the matter in hand and will soon commence operations in earnest. This is just what we want. Let it be built.

A TRUNK HORROR IN FRANCE.
A trunk was found in a room in a Paris hotel, containing a human body. The body was found in a trunk that had been left in the room for some time. The body was found in a trunk that had been left in the room for some time. The body was found in a trunk that had been left in the room for some time.

Every one was beginning to breathe more freely, when we were shocked by the news of a cruel murder in our midst. The victim is a merchant of Tunis, or rather the confidential agent of a mercantile house in that city.

About ten days ago this person, whose name was Grego, was invited, by a couple of intimate friends to visit them in a store they had just hired. They were fellow-countrymen, and possessed the same creed, possibly sat in the same pew in the synagogue of the Rue de la Harpe.

So he went, nothing suspecting, to the Rue des Tournelles. There he found his two friends, and a third friend and a countryman, who had, as it were, just dropped in.

The chief criminal, named Sidiou, who had planned the murder, knew that Grego had received, or was about to receive, 250,000 francs, in drafts, from Tunis. No sooner had the victim reached the middle of the store, than the accomplice, Nicome, struck him with a leaden cane. Sidiou, in the meantime, strangled him. The third party, Toulouane, a young man of 21, and who now appears in the character of informant, says he did nothing. The three murderers proceeded to the victim's lodgings at 4 Rue Montmartre, where they found the informant, and they carried off and divided among themselves the trunk containing the money.

The next move was to dispose of the body. For this purpose they bought a saw and an axe, chopped and sawed the body up, procured a trunk and packed up the pieces. Sidiou, Toulouane and Nicome went on board a Tunisian vessel in the port, asked the Captain to take a trunk to Tunis, and to send a boat for it to the foot of the Rue de la Harpe. The trunk was sent in charge of a boy, who was sent off by the boat to get it, and they then rowed the boat containing the trunk out of the harbor. When they thought themselves at a safe distance, they threw the thing overboard, but it being heavy enough to sink, it floated. They left it to the next morning a fisherman found it stranded at the Chateau d'If. This man reported his find to the authorities. The trunk was found to contain a human body, and the body was found to be that of the merchant Grego.

Upon his testimony Nicome was immediately arrested, but Sidiou has not yet been found. Toulouane gave up 15,000 francs, which he says was all he had. The trunk was found to contain a human body, and the body was found to be that of the merchant Grego.

Can Never Go Astray.
God bless the little feet that can never go astray. For the little shoes are made, in my heart, to stay. I sometimes take them in my hand, forgetting that I see it is a little, half-worn shoe, and much too small for me. And all at once I feel a sense of their loss and pain, and start when, two years ago, I put my feet in them again.

Oh, little feet, that weary not, I wait for them no more. For I am drifting on the tide, and they have reached the shore. And while the lightning drops wet these little shoes, I try to think my darling's feet are trailing after me. And then I feel them down again, but always true and true. God bless the little feet that now, surely, cannot stray!

And while I thus am standing, I almost seem to see the little form beside me, just as it used to be. The little face uplifted, with its eyes and tender smile. Ah, and I thought I had known that look was born for me. I reach my arms out fondly, but they clasp the empty air. For there's nothing of my darling but the shoes he used to wear.

Oh, the bitterness of parting cannot be done away. Until I meet my darling where his feet can never stray. When I no more am drifted upon the ebbing tide, but have found my darling in the arms of God. My patient heart, while waiting to see the shining way. For the little feet in the shining street can never go astray.
